19-22 of November 2025

Promoting fundamental rights

Low-floor buses and wheelchair ramps improving mobility.

Bus stations with tactile paving, better lighting, marked crossings.

Discounted fares for vulnerable groups.

Promotes equality and independence.

Incorporating EU values

Follows IROP and Regional Strategy 2030 goals.

Introduction of low-emission CNG and hybrid buses.

Smart bus stops and digital journey planners.

Enhancing social inclusion through connectivity.

Awareness and Local initiatives

European Mobility Week events: car-free days, cycling workshops.

School programs on pedestrian and cycling safety.

NGOs and senior clubs advocate for mobility rights.

Promotes clean air and safe transport.

Key challenges

Limited local funding for upgrades.

Low population density and ridership.

Complex coordination across municipalities.

Solutions: shared mobility and joint funding.

Cultural and historical influence

Respecting local traditions and historical towns.

Modernizing existing rural routes instead of large-scale construction.

Cycling paths link Modrý Kameň Castle and vineyards

Promotes green tourism and heritage preservation.

Measuring impact

Indicators: CO₂ reduction, accessibility, satisfaction surveys.

Transparent EU-funded reporting.

Data-driven monitoring of equality and inclusion.

Local best practices

Citizen participation in route planning.

Municipal cooperation for EU grants.

Linking tourism with sustainable mobility.

Strengthens local economies and engagement.

Role of GreenMove

Conclusion

Velký Krtíš is an example of rural sustainable transport success.

Achieved through collaboration, innovation, and inclusivity.

Sustainable mobility = fairness + accessibility + resilience.
